

Radiology firm signs St John of God deal

Moving forward in hospital medicine.

ABC News Online (Australia)
March 13, 2006

Radiology company Lake Imaging has finally signed off on a deal with St John of God's Ballarat and Geelong hospitals.

The company officially took on the hospitals' nuclear medicine and ultrasound services in Ballarat, and the imaging practice in Geelong, on Friday.

Lake Imaging's Craig Lightfoot says the end result is a good one for the community, despite the business having to fight vigorous criticism by the Health Services Union about staff security and service availability.